Dear der RÜCKSPIEGEL Readers,

This is an exciting time in our region, as we are pleased to announce that over the next few months our newsletter will be evolving and changing.

After many years serving as Newsletter Editor, Tom Isley resigned on February 20, 2019, effective immediately. On behalf of the region, I would like to thank Tom and Deb for their service.

In order to make sure that the newsletter was not affected or impacted by his departure, and that it did not negatively affect our esteemed members and our valuable advertisers, I have agreed to serve the region as the interim Newsletter Editor. I would personally like to thank Ian and Printingraphics for all of their assistance and patience during this transition period.

After much thought on who would be best suited to take over the long-term role of Newsletter Editor, I am excited to announce that both Greg Armstrong and Joe Sheamer have agreed to take on this position. We will be meeting with them soon and will be working closely with them to ease their transition into the role and bring them up to speed.

I look forward to the fresh new perspective they will bring, and the many changes in store for der RÜCKSPIEGEL.

Thank you and Happy Reading!

Michael
WILLKOMMEN
BY: LISA SORIANO

The last weekend of February, I attended the Zone 4 Presidents’ Meeting as well as the Zone 4 DE Meeting, which was held in Rossford. While this was my 5th Presidents’ Meeting, it was the first time I sat through both days of meetings; the other 4 were when Michael was the Zone 4 Representative. The weekend began with a dinner at The Black Pearl on Friday night. On Saturday, many of the regions were represented, and it was nice to see old friends and get to meet some newly elected officers. PCA National President Tom Gorsuch was the EC member that attended our meeting. Tom gave a presentation similar to the one he gave a few weeks ago at the National Board Meeting in Seattle. Michael was also asked to give a presentation about the National Awards Program. After the presentations concluded, each region highlighted one event from their social calendar. Over the course of the weekend, Michael and I spent a great deal of time meeting with Tom Gorsuch. Sunday morning was the Zone 4 DE Meeting, which was led by National DE Chair John Krecek. Most of the Region DE Chairs and/or Chief Driving Instructors discussed the latest information on DE Minimum Standards as well as some of the tools available to them on the PCA website.

I would like to welcome our New Members: Robert and Angelyn Dornauer. I encourage them along with anyone who has not attended an event recently, to take a look at our region calendar. Please make sure that you are receiving Kim Harris’s email notifications, and if you are on Facebook, consider joining our closed group: Maumee Valley Region, PCA. Our Social Media Coordinator Laura Valentine is doing a great job posting reminders for upcoming events in addition to posting pictures of the events.

On April 13, Bob and Kim Harris are organizing a Tour to Auburn, IN; members from Michiana and Central Indiana regions will be joining us and a Tech Quiz has also been planned. In anticipation of our Annual Charity Event: the Run for the Roses Party, Beth Stewart and the Social Committee are hosting a Ladies Event on April 27 to help you construct your Derby Hat. Looking ahead to next month, please plan to attend the Run for the Roses Party at Porsche of Ann Arbor on May 4. We have invited our friends from Rally Sport Region to help us raise money for a very worthy cause, the Mobile Meals Kid’s Weekender Program. Come join us for this truly fun event.

On February 20, once the February Newsletter was completed, Tom Isley notified me that after 15 years he has decided to step down as Newsletter Editor. I would like to thank Tom and Deb for their many years of service.
In order to avoid any interruption of the newsletter, Barney, Michael and I along with the wonderful people at Printingraphics have put together this issue for your reading pleasure.

A thorough search was conducted to find our new Editors, and I am extremely pleased to announce that Greg Armstrong and Joe Sheamer have accepted the position. I am excited to see the new and innovative changes that these two will bring to our newsletter.

Hope to see you at an event soon!

Lisa

Brake pad bedding is an important process that removes impurities from the surface of the brake pad and lays down a thin layer of pad residue on the rotor surface. This is accomplished through repeated heated and cooling during braking. These cycles are like Goldilocks and the three bears: temperatures need to be just right to prevent scarring of the brake pad and rotor surfaces, or uneven pad transfer. Follow these easy guidelines and enjoy quiet, smooth and long-lasting braking. While every manufacturer has a different method for bedding in their brake pads, the basics remain the same—regardless of brand.

- Find an open stretch of road that will allow you to safely stop your vehicle multiple times
- Accelerate to 35 mph and apply moderate brake pressure to reduce your speed to 5-10 MPH
- Repeat this process 3-4 times, the goal is to warm up your brake pads
- Now turn up the heat even more by increasing your speed to 45 mph and braking down to 10 mph
- Repeat this process 3-4 times
- Pro Tip: It’s important to avoid coming to a complete stop during this stage as it’s possible to melt brake pads against hot rotors. Of course, should a deer, pedestrian or Sasquatch run onto the road, feel free to mash the brake pedal. Safety first!

Your stop-and-go session is now complete. Park the car and allow the brakes to fully cool for an hour. For best results, avoid pressing down on the brake pedal when parked.

While bedding in your brakes can sound like a sensitive procedure, one funky stop isn’t going to ruin your efforts. Gas-off and heat will occur. Drive safely and avoid emergency stops, if possible.

Petza914 replied:

This is the exact process I use, but add a 3rd set of stops from almost stops from 60 or 70 mph, then the cool down drive from my bedding loop is about 3 miles where no braking is required. What probably makes you feel like their warped is that since they weren’t bedded properly, you have uneven material transfer on the rotor from the pad material. The pad material to pad material on the rotor relationship is actually what give you that nice initial bite when you apply the brakes. In your case, you have some pad material properly bonded but other places where it’s not or there isn’t any, so as the rotor turns you’re getting a grab / release / grab / release effect which feels just like a warped rotor.

The rotors need to be fully cleaned from the current pad material - brake cleaner on a roloc pad on a drill is how I do it (it slings so do it outside with an old shirt on), then sand or file the surface of the brake pads (wear a respirator). The goal here is to get to a fresh layer of pad material that isn’t already glazed - doesn’t take much - you want the shininess gone. Put it all back together and then bed them using the process in jfort’s post and you should be good to go. Make sure to use either the OEM pad dampeners or an anti-squeal paste on the BACKSIDE of the pad, not the friction surface. This will keep them nice and quiet so you don’t get squeal when stopping.

If you need to bleed the ABS actuators and don’t have a Durametric, you can just find a road with some loose dirt and do a few panic stops where you feel the pedal pulsing as that’s the ABS pump working and will move the fluid through. A new home construction site is usually a good place where the trucks going in and out have left a bunch of dirt in the road.

Hi Zone 4,

The month of February for me was back to back administrative PCA meetings across the country.

The weekend of Feb 9-10th, I was in Seattle, Washington for the National Staff Meetings. Why Seattle you ask? And on the weekend of the epic 100-year snow storm that virtually stopped the city? Who knew!! I was lucky that I got in before the snow started, and flew home before the 2nd wave hit. The weekend included an afternoon and morning of the Zone Reps having time with many of the National Staff Chairs as well as the Executive Council, followed by the annual National Staff Assembly. The professional staff at National PCA HQ continues to grow with the addition of a Marketing and Membership Chair, Jim Hemig, and Digital Architect Robert Forsyth. Look for major changes to the PCA.ORG website coming later this year.

Then the next weekend I was in Dallas, Texas for the PCA Club Racing All Hands meeting. Many of you are aware, I also serve as a National Scrutineer for the Club Race program. I was joined by most of the Scrutineer team, all of the Stewards and the Timing and Scoring teams. We discussed new program changes, rules changes and overall strategies to grow and improve the program. We have a few new technology tricks to use to evaluate correct engine compression specifications.

Oh boy!

The next weekend I was in Toledo, Ohio, for the Zone 4 Presidents meeting, and Driver Education Planning Meeting. We were joined by our National PCA President-Tom Gorsuch. Also with us was the National DE Chair - John Krecek and National Awards Chair - Michael Soriano. Thanks to Chip Henderson for sharing the story of how Mid Ohio became 2017 region of the year. 11 regions were represented out of the 12, and we had a packed agenda with remote participation from National Marketing and Membership Chair- Jim Hemig, National Autocross Chair Kathy Thorp, and PorschePlatz queen Lynn Friedman. We reviewed the highlighted region events for 2019 in the Zone, – please check your calendars for these dates and check the region websites and newsletters for details:

- Allegheny – Pittsburgh Vintage Grand Prix – July 19-21
- Central Indiana – Automobilia Charity event August 24
- Eastern Buckeye – Falling Water Frank Lloyd Wright Home Tour July 20
• Maumee Valley - Auburn Cord Museum tour April 13
• Michiana – 5 autocrosses throughout the summer at Tire Rack in South Bend
• Ohio Valley – Porsche Corral at the Ault Park Concours June 9
• Rally Sport – Yankee Air Museum Tour Summer, TBD
• Southeast Michigan – Summer Picnic
• Western Michigan -Gilmore Car Museum Red Barn Spectacular – August 3

Cheers
– Lori

One of my favorite things to do on the web is to go into a car company’s web site, head straight to their configurator and build something. Sometimes it will be a stripper, just the basic car to see how cheap I can build it. And more times than not, I go all in adding every option to see how far I can take it to the other extreme. I try different colors, different interiors, different wheels and I spare no expense on the performance options. If you are going to build something, you may as well go big. Right?

I love me some Porsches! Owned twelve of ‘em (and counting). But you know what? I’ve never bought a new one. The Turner master plan says I get to do that at some point in my short life on this revolving globe. Thinking back to the Brand Loyalty series I wrote a couple of month back, you know I’ve got to get my boys out of college, propped up and on their own. Could take years. It’s funny, I even remind them from time to time (like weekly), that they’re holding me back. I am joking here, but just barely.

Point is, I love the Porsche configurator. I build cars on it all the time, like maybe 2-3 times per month. OK, maybe 3-4 times per month. But that’s all I’m admitting here. I build Carrera’s (mostly Turbos and GT3s), Boxsters, Caymans (especially Caymans; love ‘em), Cayennes (just in case we end up needing a new one), Mecans (because they are awesome), Panameras (have you read my action-adventure novels? They factor somewhat in the story line), and 918’s (cause they are stupid crazy and it’s fun to see if you can configure one to $1,000,000—yes with reversed pinky held to mouth, Dr. Evil style).

I will build one, giggle and say to my wife, “Hey I built a new Porsche, wanna see it?” She’ll glance over at me, with a sideways look, glasses lowered to her nose, and ask if I went all in this time or not. No I will proudly exclaim that I built an inexpensive Cayenne - for her. Does she want to see it? Then she’ll ask if it is like the other dozen I have “built” for her lately and not getting her sarcasm, I’ll say this one is different. (Yeah, it’s red.) Sometimes she looks, sometimes she doesn’t and she reminds me (for like the thousandth time) that we’re not doing anything before the aforementioned boys are out of school, cars paid off, bills paid off, ETC. Oh yeah—heard that one before. So then, what the heck, I’ll reconfigure the car as a Cayenne Turbo S with every option under the sun. $180K! Yeah, that’ll show her!

I want To Put 18 Inch Wheels Front And 19 Inch Rear. Problems? – 2007 Cayman

Question
See above. Will 18-inch wheels in the front and 19s in the back-cause problems? Porsche puts different diameter wheels on some models from the factory. Thank you.

Answer
Submitted by Pedro Bonilla.

Unless the car is specifically designed with different-size wheels, it’s not a good idea to install them.

The systems in cars designed for equal diameter wheels count wheel revolutions in each corner to determine if the car is sliding. That affects the ABS, PSM, and other systems. If you have different diameters, then the wheels will be turning at different speed and will trigger some of the safety say stems and create error codes and more.

Those models where Porsche designed the car with different diameter wheels take the difference into account and therefore works as expected.

Silver Bosch Coil – 1971 911T

Question
In your post on August 25, 2010, you said NOT to order the silver coil made in Brazil. Is this still your opinion, even if it is made by Bosch?

Answer
Submitted by Edward Mayo

Given the known failure rate of those coils that advice still stands, Bosch unfortunately is as caught up in outsourcing as so many other companies. Best is to find an old German made Bosch coil, or buy the one from Parts Klassic. Theirs is almost a perfect copy of the Bosch black coil, and better yet they seem to be a much better product than the silver Bosch.
Transmission Fluid – 1997 Boxster

Question
I was going to change my Transmission fluids and was told not to because of the metal flakes and it could cause more damage than good? Is this true?

Answer
Submitted by Pedro Bonilla

The transmission fluid needs to be flushed every 90,000 miles in your car, whether it’s manual or Tiptronic. When you drain the fluid, any debris floating in the fluid will be flushed out. If your car is equipped with a Tiptronic transmission you should also replace the transmission’s filter and clean the pan and magnets.

Happy Porsche’ing
Question
I am considering the purchase of an 89 944 with an automatic 3 speed transmission. All my other 944s are manual. What might I want to look for in the way of problems with the car/ transmission and what performance should I expect with an automatic? The car has 100,000 miles on it.

Answer
Submitted by George Beuselin

The automatic transaxle loses power and has worse fuel economy than the manual transaxle.

In addition, it is less reliable than the manual transmission, and more expensive to repair when trouble arises. There are several good rebuilders of manual transaxles across the country, but it has been my experience that good rebuilders of automatic transaxle are hard to find.

In my opinion, I would only buy an automatic 944 as a last resort.
The year started off with very unusual weather patterns for Zone 4. Could this be the sign of an unusual year? I would like you to make this an unusual year in PCA by getting out to an event you haven't tried yet. Only doing track events? Try an autocross, or a driving tour.

Haven't been to a track Driver Education event? Try coming out to the Southeast Michigan DE 101 on April 20th at Waterford Hills Raceway. Or to one of the Driver Education events the following weekend April 28-29th at either Mid Ohio Sportscar Course with Mid Ohio Region, or Putnam Park with Central Indiana region. See what it’s all about, stay for lunch and you may get a chance to drive the touring laps on the track over the lunch break. Most regions have a monthly breakfast – Maumee Valley Region, or Thirsty Thursday – Eastern Buckeye Region, or a Saturday Breakfast with Central Indiana Region. Events are posted on each region’s website, or Facebook page.

Despite that fun winter stuff called snow, I visited 2 events in Indiana in January. First, the New Member Party for Michiana on January 26th, in Elkhart, IN. Many nice door prizes were awarded after a very nice dinner at the country club. The following Saturday, actually sneaking into February, I joined members of Central Indiana Region and Michiana in Ft Wayne for a 2019 planning meeting. Many great around the Zone

Events going on each month for all types of interest from Auto-X to shows, to tours. This year the CruZionsville event is taking a break, so we look forward to see the CIR and Michiana member joining us for the Belle Isle Car Corral on May 31st - June 2nd. The registration link is ready, and more to follow soon. https://clubregistration.net/events/event-details.cfm?event_id=9535

My January actually began far from Zone 4 with my first PCA event of the year. I was asked to be the guest speaker at the Zone 8 Awards Banquet – Zone 8 is southern California, southern Nevada and Arizona. We had a wonderful evening, and visited a private collection the next day. I had the pleasure of presenting my story about the Journey with my father Peter Schutz and his contributions to Porsche history when he was CEO from 1981-1988. I am scheduled to deliver the same presentation to regions in our area, please check the websites for the details. Current schedule is March 12th Upper Canada Region, April 2nd Rally Sport Region, and May 8th Michiana Region.

I look forward to seeing all of you in 2019 – Cheers – Lori

The year's events began with our first breakfast together at Star Diner on January 8. Next, the Board hosted an Appreciation Dinner for Barney and Beth Stewart to thank them for their service as President and First Lady. A few days later, was our first evening social event of the year, an evening at Gastro Social pub. Over 40 MVR members, some longtime and some attending their first event, gathered for an evening of good food and conversation. On Saturday, February 2, a number of members attended the Lady Rockets basketball game. Immediately following the game was dinner at The Beirut, where additional members joined the group. I had an especially good time that evening, since I was the winner of the 50/50 raffle, with proceeds going to the Mobile Meals of Toledo Weekender Program for kids.

As I sit down to write this article, I have just returned from the PCA National Winter Board Meeting, which was held in Seattle, Washington. As always, it was a very informative and productive weekend. In addition to the usual meetings with regard to our National responsibilities, a few weeks before the meeting, my husband Michael, the PCA National Willkommen Awards Chair, was contacted by National President Tom Gorsuch asking him to moderate the Roundtable Discussions for the PCA National Staff Meeting. I assisted in running the discussions, which revolved around the Executive Council's new S.W.O.T Initiative. During the meetings, Committee Chairs, Committee members, and Region Presidents discussed the Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats on the National, Zone, and Regional levels. The information gathered at this meeting will be used in conjunction with the information gathered by a third party firm to shape and guide PCA in the upcoming years.

During the Board Meeting, it was announced that membership continues to grow and currently there are 129,996 Total Members. PCA is working hard to provide even more opportunities to the membership including developing the first officially sanctioned PCA National iRacing simulation racing series. and, Craig Kugler, National Treasurer, announced that more than likely there will be another Surplus Region Refund Subsidy again this year.

Over the course of the weekend, I was also able to work with the National Membership, DE, and Driving Tour Chairs to get answers that will directly benefit the Region. The next couple of events are a continuation of the monthly morning breakfast at Star Diner which is on March 12, and the dinner at Black Pearl restaurant. Be sure to let Kim Harris know if you plan on attending.

One final note is a reminder that the club is “fueled by volunteers.” We are always looking for help in planning or staging our events, or running the region. If you can support in any way, let Lisa or one of the other officers know. Your help will be greatly appreciated.
